PRODUCERS

Dr. Philip Frost
Superintendent

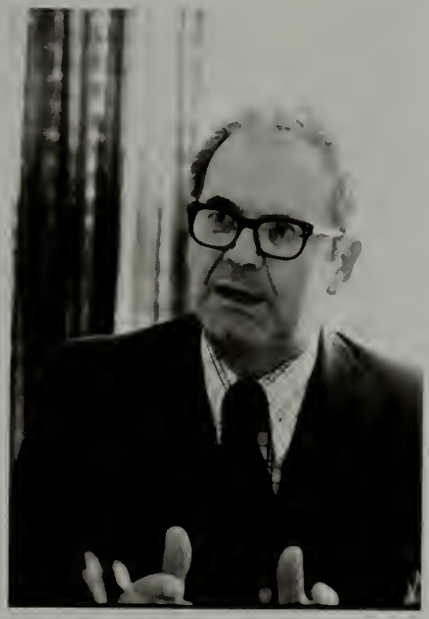
"Longmeadow High School is a vital part of Longmeadow."

Edgar Craver
Principal

Edgar Craver, principal of Longmeadow High School, has been working over the past year towards his doctorate through the University of Massachusetts. Mr. Craver is working as a consultant change agent at Mount Edgecumbe Boarding School, Mt. Edgecombe, Alaska. This program, piloted by the Bureau of Indian Affairs, is no newcomer to Longmeadow High School. Longmeadow has been an active part of Indian exchange programs for the past six years. Mr. Craver will be in a program concerned with bringing a 500 eskimo student school into the mainstream of education in the United States. Mr. Craver, in working for his doctorate, has been involved in bringing Alaskan education up to date. The Craver family joined Mr. Craver for the year and will live simply among the Indians.

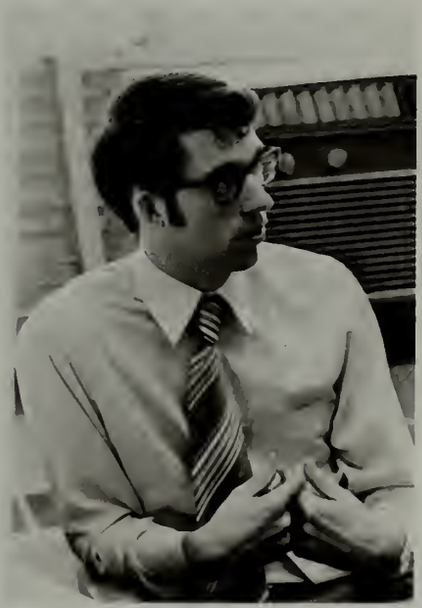
Thoma Miller
Student Advisor

"This year has been really good. The student-teacher relationships have improved, and the future looks bright."



Angelo Texeira
Acting Principal

"Being principal has been an enjoyable change. The responsibilities are different being I am more concerned with the needs of the staff and using the facilities to their fullest extent."



William Kirkpatrick
Vice Principal

"I enjoy teaching because of the relationship I have with my students. My new position offers me a chance to grow. I will go back to teaching with new perspectives."

As a freshman, I find the teachers of this school seem to favor the upper classmen.
Christina Rooke

Now that I am a freshman it seems that some of the teachers treat me with more respect than when I was in middle school.
Jeff Meyers

When teachers dress informally, I find that it makes them easier to relate to.

I think that the new TV studio is a nice idea but I don't think it will work. It's a big fancy undertaking and I don't think that they have the right kind of people to make it worthwhile. There really isn't enough time to utilize it to its fullest.

It's hard to judge the teachers on one standard. Some are good, some are bad, and some are just mediocre.

Peter Greenberg

Seminar Day is alot of fun but once a year is definitely enough.

Mrs. Ely

The apathy of the students this year has very definitely gotten better. Compared to other schools, it wouldn't even be considered a problem.

"The teacher has to be interested in what he is teaching so that the students will be enthralled with the course."

"Student apathy in this school is no greater than the general apathy of Longmeadow society. It's like a pendulum. It got worse, but now it's better."

Francis Simanski

In Fond Memory Of

Isabel T. Elsner

March 1925 —September 1974

Teacher Of Science At

Longmeadow High School

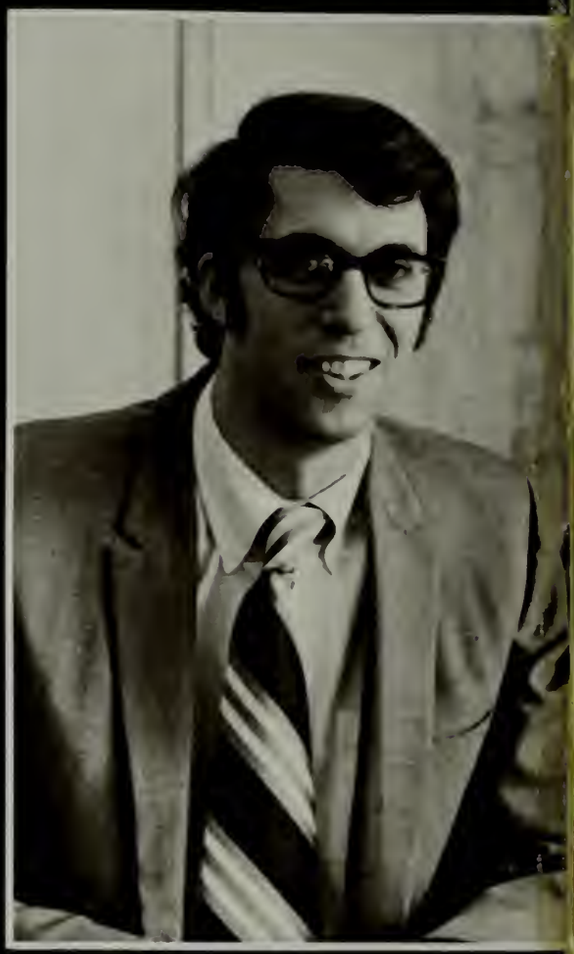
1971 — 1974

Walter A. Reppucci, teacher and friend of almost every student at Longmeadow High School resigned this year. Mr. Reppucci had taught for fifteen years prior to his decision; he now has a partnership in a law firm.

Mr. Reppucci believed that his practice did not allow him to give full attention to his students. He taught just for the fun of it believing, "If a person enjoys teaching there is the backbone of the nation, because teachers contribute more than any other profession." Mr. Reppucci has worked for the government and for private industry and still feels that teaching is the most rewarding profession.

Walter A. Reppucci
Teacher Of Spanish At
Longmeadow High School
1961 — 1974

Dedication



The Class of 1975 would like to express its appreciation to two individuals who have been counselors, advisors, critics, and friends for the past several years. Therefore, it is with great pleasure that the EDITORS and staff dedicate the 1975 MASACKSIC to Miss Lolene Blake and Mr. Bill Kirkpatrick.

Miss Blake and Mr. Kirkpatrick have dedicated their time and efforts to each and every class council meeting, project, and problem. The senior class production of "Alice in Wonderland," while produced and directed by students, could not have been the success it was without the hours sacrificed by these two class advisors.

. . . 1975

It is this kind of faculty-student relationship that makes all of the work and problems a little easier.

CLASS OF '76

The class of '76 has enjoyed an enthusiastic and profitable year. The class council spent arduous hours striving to secure the Open Door Program and tried to take in enough money to finance their senior week activities.

While in the past, class council has been guilty of not representing the whole class, the creation of a voluntary council extinguished this problem. The council was hectic but effective in organizing successful Junior class activities which include a raffle, a dance, a night in memory of Steve Broadbent, and a variety show with KEY CLUB. They can truly be called "the spirit of '76!"

CLASS OF '77

This year the Class of 1977 incorporated a voluntary class council system. In this manner, any member of the class not elected, could serve on the council after attending five meetings. In the latter part of the year, talk-quiet study halls came through for those who paid their dues and were interested. Two dances were sponsered and a Christmas craft sale earned money for the class. The voluntary system enlarged class council a great deal and because of this the entire class enjoyed a good year.

CLASS OF '78

The Freshman Class had a rewarding and successful year. They began their years at L.H.S. by electing four able officers and a good class council. The Frosh are still on the election system unlike the rest of the school. Allison Sturgis, president of the class, described the class as "active and very willing to participate." A notible accomplishment of the class was the speedy collection of dues. They also spent a substantial part of their year organizing activities such as a swim marathon, a dance, and also a play. The Class of 1978 surely got off on the right foot.

FOOTBALL

The 1974 Lancer football season proved to be much more than a series of nine Saturday afternoon games in which one either won or lost. The Lancers displayed to the school and to themselves team spirit and confidence that has yet to be equaled by any team in recent years. Each member of the team, players and coaches alike, knew they had gained much more than the satisfaction of a very successful 7-2 season. Under the leadership of head coach Stan Ursprung, the coaching staff of Norm Harris, Mike Deary, rookie coach Dave Williams, and Bill Win, the team that wasn't supposed to do anything suddenly became winners. It was the help of these men plus a week long session of practice that lasted two months at Camp Norwich, that whipped the team into a sometimes unstoppable force. Part of the Lancer success story can be attributed to Greg Badach, Gary Destephano, and Joe Cambi, three first year seniors who helped out the team which was hurt from last years graduation. Led by captains Phil Mackler and Mark Lawrence, who played almost every minute of every game, the Lancers showed each week that they came to play.

LANCER LINES — Brian Rooke

A player stands on the field, in a shirt of mesh,
He's out to prove something, that he's the best.
The opponents are psyched to play the game,
But with him it's different, just not the same.
He can't Play just good, or even well,
He's gotta show that he excells.
Cause he's a Longmeadow Lancer, and this is his day,
A Longmeadow Lancer, who came to play.
The victories were fun, the losses tense,
But it all created a great experience.
7-2 or what ever you may be,
You always come off as winners to me.

ALL ALONE...?

SOCCER

Before the season began this year there were those who thought the team would be one of the best that Longmeadow had seen in recent years. Senior tri-captains Chris Whitney, Bob Petroff and Howie Lincoln, along with John Reardon and newly arrived Carter Mitchell, formed the nucleus of a team which included five sophomores with no varsity experience. In the early part of the season the Lancers were inconsistent, living up to their potential in crushing some opponents, while confusing their fans in some poorly played losing efforts. Injuries to key players figured in their inconsistency. After the slow start, the Lancers finally got on track, racking up nineteen goals and three shutouts in four games. A turning point in the tiring Lancer soccer season, was the Classical game. The team played the best game of the year but just didn't get the breaks. The score: Longmeadow-0, Classical-3. In the remaining eight games after this one, the team compiled a poor two win, five losses, one tie record. The offense, led by high scorer Chris Whitney and second highest scorer Bob Petroff, was at times sharp, and the defense led by fullback Carter Mitchell was impenetrable. Yet more often than not, the team play lacked organization and a total effort on everyone's part. In that the team far from compiled an impressive record, the season was indeed a disappointment. Yet it was an exciting season filled with tense, see-saw battles decided in the final few minutes. After it all ended, the Lancers had a 4-8-4 record and it would be known as "the season that could have been."

This year's Lancer's Cross-Country Team experienced one of its most unusual seasons ever. After a disappointing start, the Lancer team went on to win five of the next six league meets and captured the Valley Wheel crown. This marked the first time that Longmeadow won the league championship. The success of this year's team was basically the result of depth. Plagued by injuries to several key runners, Coach Winseck had to rely on some young talent to fill the gaps. Strong performances were made by Peter Hopfe, Bill Brennan, Howard Hoyt, and Tom Hirsch. Several key victories were also determined by the efforts of Mike Flocken, Steve Urdanoff, and Kevin Williams. Longmeadow finished strong in the Western Mass. Championships by taking seventh place. Coach Winseck should be able to field another strong team next year with the Junior Varsity having compiled a 5-2 record.

GIRLS SWIMMING

The Girls' Swim team had an excellent season with eight wins and three losses. Their strength coming mainly from underclassmen, the girls took first in Western Mass. and sixth in the States. Finally in their own pool, coaches Judy Gregory and Linda Segur kept the team rolling through eight wins. Captain Kristie Sanford and co-captain Carol Pelmas felt this year was a year for not only hard work, but many rewards, including three girls capturing Western Mass. records and six making the Western Mass. All-Star team. With many starters returning, next year looks great.

The Girls' Field Hockey Team had an average season this year. Led by coach Nancy Darsch, the girls came out with a record of five wins and five losses. The attack was made up of four underclassmen and senior Eve Pratt, while the defense consisted of almost all seniors including captain Joann Haddad. Many of the girls felt that the leadership and knowledge of Coach Darsch turned this year's team into a more unified squad than in past years. The girls learned to play not as individuals, but as a team, as all good teams should. The future looks bright for the '75 season with starters Mimi Carter, Leslie Maglathlin, Pam Grayboff, and Mary Jo Quigley returning.

For three years Longmeadow basketball fans have been saying," wait until these guys are seniors, then we will tear the league apart." The "guys" refer to the likes of Jeff Folkins, John Reardon, Phil Mackler, and Mike Fowler. Their senior year had arrived, and so had the basketball team. Sporting a near perfect in-league record, they rampaged through the Valley Wheel with considerable ease, beating many opponents by twenty points or more. The few close games came against cross-town foe East Longmeadow, and against Minnechaug High. Longmeadow twice beat the Spartans by one point, and the third meeting between these arch-rivals the Lancers copped a satisfying 67 to 57 victory. All three games drew packed houses, and after the dust had cleared, Longmeadow's record and pride remained undaunted. It was evident from the beginning that the makings of a great team were there, and had only to be utilized. Well aware of this, the team was determined to make things happen this year. Pre-season practices sported unusual hard work and high team spirit. In early season games L.H.S. lined up against several powerful inter-city teams such as Classical, Comp., and Tech. Though the Lancers played less than .500 ball in these independent games, for the first time in years they played the city powers on equal footing through much of the

there were no complaints on his part. This type of team spirit was the basic reason for a Lancer team spelled Success. Of course, talent does not hurt, and it was richly and evenly distributed. One day J.J. would lead the charge, the next Jeff, Phil, or Mike would come through. Kevin Campbell and Bill Mentor provided excellent backcourt direction and their play stabilized the team. On the bench, Mike McGill, Jack Walsh, and Campy came on and played well in key situations. The final product of all this was a lot of spirit, plenty of determination, an excellent basketball team, and a Valley Wheel crown.

Because of their fine showing in the Valley Wheel the Lancers continued on to the Mass. Division II tournament. The basketballers lost a dispointing decision to Holyoke Catholic, thus ending the season.

contests. Rather than causing a loss of spirit, these games raised the hopes of the Lancer hoopmen. The ball started rolling in the first league game against E.L., won in the final seconds, and kept gaining momentum, with the exception of a slight letdown in a 47 to 46 loss to Minnechaug after they had clinched first place. The team consisted of only nine players this year, a relatively small squad, and mostly seniors. Together they decided that sacrifices would have to be made, and each man was given a job to do. The rebounding chores fell to Jeff Folkins, and though this at times cut his scoring output,

HOCKEY

Not since Brian Durocher tended goal for the Longmeadow hockey team have the Lancers had any great success. This year was no exception, as the team played at a .500 clip most of the season. The play of this year's aggregation was very inconsistent. It was a team that won only one out of its first four league games, and then won three in a row. A team that completely dominated South Hadley for two periods and a four to one lead, and then gave up four quick goals to "earn" a five to four loss. A team which, after having trouble with the lower teams in the division, turned around and thrashed league-leading Minnechaug High five to one. Just why a team could play so well and then so poorly, so often, is not easily explained. Before the season started the defense, led by juniors John Bridge and Blair Clarke, and sophomore Ted Snyder, was considered strong while the offense was thought to be relatively weak. At times this evaluation ran true, yet more often than not it was a false generalization. In early season games weaknesses in the defense and in goal led to high scores for Lancer opponenents. At other times the defense was outstanding and carried the burden of a struggling team. The offense had the playmaking ability to bring the puck down ice, but lacked the men who could consistently put the puck in the net. Jim Durocher, Chris Whitney, and Tim Janik were "high" scorers, yet none of them were among the league's top ten goal getters. This absence of scoring prowess hurt the Lancers, because many games that should have been won were lost, and some lopsided opponent victories were much closer than the final tally indicates.

HOCKEY

The Longmeadow High School wrestling team started off its '74-'75 season with high hopes. During the first several meets, the Lancers ran away with their matches. Dave Whitney, Jeff Heitman, Dave Bryer, and Rich Robbins did well in the light weights. John Knisely, Joe Appleman, Steve Knisely and Mike Flocken fared well in the middle weights, and the team was balanced off with big victories from Preston Amy, Jack Sadler, Rich DiPippo, and Steve Abdow. As the tougher matches rolled around the squad discovered some of its weaknesses. In the first real tough encounter against Tech, the Lancers had to swallow a bitter pill in losing an extremely close decision after giving up twelve points due to two people not making weight. This misfortune had a definite effect on the team, as it floundered from then on after having previously ripped off eight straight victories. They proceeded to lose close decisions against Granby, Cathedral, and Western Mass. Champion Westfield High, along with wins over Quabbin and perenially tough St. Joseph. Longmeadow made a fine showing in the Western Mass. Sectionals, capturing fourth place and sending Dave Bryer, Rich Robbins, and team captain Steve Knisely to the finals of individual competition.

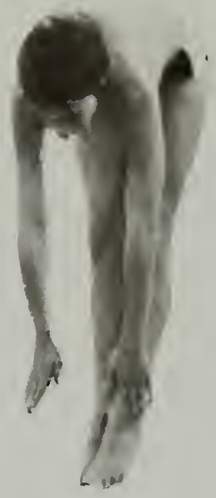
SWIMMING



The Lancer swim team experienced an unusual season in which they recorded a fair five win, eight loss dual-meet record, and yet went on to take an impressive second place finish in Western Mass. post-season competition. The explanation for this apparent discrepency lies in the new scoring system that was instituted a few years ago. Whereas the old scoring system awarded points for only the top three finishers in each event, the new system awards credit to fourth, fifth, and sixth place finishers as well. The main effect of this rule change is to give those squads with good depth an advantage over those who rely on a few individual stars. Unfortunately, the Lancers fell under the latter category and were hurt by this scoring change. Rich in individual talent, such as Rich Pelmas, Jeff Glaser, and Bill Skelly, the team had managed to win as many as eight of eleven first place finishes and still, due to lack of depth, lose the meet. In post-season swimming the participants are all very well qualified and lack of depth is not a significant problem. Consequently, Longmeadow's top swimmers were able to secure an excellent 2nd place finish.

The boys ski team struggled through a season in which they had no coach, little snow, few matches, and fewer wins. George Fontaine and Flynt Lincoln, two outstanding senior skiers, took it upon themselves to organize the team and arrange practices. As it turned out, however, most of the meets were cancelled due to lack of snow, setting the stage for a dismal season that saw the Lancers win one of four completed matches. Not to be discouraged, the team took up hot dog skiing and made the best of the situation. It provided a good form of entertainment and kept the Lancer spirits up as they awaited their infrequent matches.

The Longmeadow Boys gymnastic team, after being a third place power last year, had expectant high hopes for the '74-'75 season. After losing only two men to graduation, and with a talented group of incoming freshmen, Longmeadow was expected to do as well or better this year. However, it was not to be, as the Lancers lost many extremely close decisions and wound up with a two win, six loss record. While the team did not gell as a whole, there were several outstanding individual performances. Brad Rappaport, third all around in Western Mass. last year, continued to carry the team with his consistent high scoring. Jeff Cloud, co-captain along with Brad, performed well enough to gain the honor of second seed in the Western Mass. post-season competition. The team's depth was evident, and gives hope for the future, as several underclassmen did more than was expected of them. Junior Eric Michelman was responsible for Longmeadow's strength in parallel bars, and ring man Jim Kelly, not expected to emerge as a medal winner until his junior or senior year, came into his own as a high scoring sophomore. Other outstanding sophomores included Jim Bradford, Bart Dunlevy, Craig Cloud, and Harvey Stockhammer. All are confident that these younger gymnasts will return the Lancers to their winning ways next year.

The Longmeadow Girls Gymnastics Team was a major power in the Western Mass. League this year. They compiled a 7-3 record, good enough for them to take a third place finish, two places higher than last year. Next year could be the year the Longmeadow girls go all the way, losing only senior captain Janet Lyons. Even though Janet was a state qualifier for her excellent vaulting, the team was backed by other vaulting state qualifiers Laurie Sullivan, Dot Kossoy, and Sue Miller. The Girls Team was not lacking on any events, with the two Wiatrowski twins, Linda and Lynn, qualifying for states. On the balance beam there were no state qualifiers, but the team was backed by sophomores Tami Ezzo, Heather Carroll, and Julie Whitney.

All in all, the Girls Team did very well this year and can expect only better things. The girls were certainly not hampered by coaching problems, being instructed by head coach Judy Gregory and assistant coaches Kathy Mentor and Ginny Baeder. All three were well- qualified coaches as can be seen through the girls success. Drawing many younger girls, the team can look forward to a very successful future.

The Girls Basketball Team faced many hardships this year. Often they were forced to practice in only half a gym as after-school intramurals cut into their time on the floor. To compensate, they practiced six and sometimes seven days a week enabling them to take third place after the 6-9 season. The Varsity team carried only eight members, which made substitutions limited and injuries critical. Captain Maureen Fleming led the scoring with 141 points for the season while senior Karen Aye scored 115 season points and Judy Cramer 80. After this "rebuilding" year, rookie coach Nancy Darsch is looking forward next year to a victorious season with the abundance of underclassmen. The J.V. team finished with a 12-3 record which put them in a three way tie for first place. Junior Susan Kimball summed it all up saying, "the most important thing is that we had lots of fun."

ACT II
ACTIVITIES

Singing has always been a strong point at Longmeadow High and this year was no exception. After last year's seniors graduated and left, it seemed as if this years Lyrics would go down the drain. However this seems to be the feeling every year and "collapse" is far from what happened. When tryout time rolled around a lot of new faces showed up due to the hounding of choral director Peter Thomsen.

A good number of these kids made Lyrics, and combined with the old timers, the group sounded better then ever. Besides Lyrics both Girls' Concert Chorus and Girls Chorus made a lot of progress this year. The traditional I Cantori performed at most of the concerts and sounded as beautiful as ever. All the groups performed at the Fall, Winter and Spring concerts and most kids participated in the exchange concert in the Spring. When Mr. Thomsen wasn't working with the choral groups, he was busy teaching his electronic music class. The students enjoyed working with the tape recorders and making crazy and interesting sounds with the school's new synthesizer. Aside from all this, the years brightest spot was Men's Chorus, where Mr. Thomsen went out and recruited ten to fifteen boys to sing in the group. Accompanying them with his guitar, they performed at the Fall Band Concert. It's been a long time since boys have joined chorus' at school and the next few years promise even more boys as well as girls joining the choral program.

Any success that I have had in high school I owe to being in Lyrics. For one thing, I got to know a lot of people in my years spent in the group. Singing with friends is one great experience!

— Harry Getzov

Longmeadow High School's instrumental program is piloted by Wilfred Burkle, who leads the Wind Ensemble, Band, Orchestra, and the Jesters; best known for their performance at the Pops Concert. It is not unusual to see these groups practicing in the early hours of the morning or late at night. If one was able to attend Saturday afternoon football games at L.H.S., the Band, under Burkle's direction, would be supporting the Lancers.

Aside from the everyday leadership of the instrumental groups, Mr. Burkle also enjoyed working with students in the new electronic music lab where they explored new dimensions in sound. The music program is one of the strongest in the area, and is ever improving.

A major change took place in the Kiwanis affiliate at L.H.S. this year. The KEY CLUB, most famous for its well known antics during homeroom, underwent an overhaul in the early part of the year. Homeroom was reduced to about 25 members, no longer emanated with explosive chants of joking accusations. Gone was the thunder of 100 students collaborating in a "joyous celebration." Most importantly, the KEY CLUB again as in the past responded with services and functions for any and all worthy recipients. While on the surface KEY CLUB seemed to be a group out just to have a good time, this time was always aimed at a special goal, a service.

Among the groups credits include the highly successful blood donor program where 120 pints of blood were donated. While the actual event took just a few short hours, months and months of preparation including assemblies, movies and speakers went into the program. The local Toy for Joy campaign renewed a shot in the arm on the strength of the club's efforts. The annual Faculty vs. Alumni basketball game raised over 200 dollars which was given to the Toy for Joy campaign along with various canned goods collected. The members continued serving refreshments and ushering at the football and basketball games this year which was added to their out-of-school functions.

While serving the local community in as many ways as possible, the KEY CLUB has always been able to rate among the top clubs in the area. Most important, they have a good time doing their job.

Row 3 — Elaine Wiatrowski, Elinor Holman, Beth Pollard.

One of the fastest growing clubs in the school today is the Keyettes. Afiliated with the Kiwanas, the Keyettes are the Key Club counterpart. Boasting a membership of a hundred plus, and finally situated in their own homeroom, the Keyettes provide valuable assistance to the school and community. Such a service as the Keyettes is called upon for various projects and favors. Among the clubs credits include the Keyettes-Key Club football game and the annual bouceathon, both backing the Heart Fund, various dances, and the annual father-daughter banquet. While probably not as well known as the school's Key Club, the Keyettes have grown to become an organization anyone in the school can rely on. Led by Virginia Hogan and student president Denise Ferrara, the Keyettes have, in the past two years, become an ever-growing organization.

N.H.S.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY can be one of two types of clubs; either a "do-nothing, two induction teas a year group of students," or a very active club that is extremely helpful to the rest of the school. The students in this year's N.H.S. chose the second type. In between the two teas in which new students were inducted, Mrs. Dudley and Mrs. Dolgin kept the members busy with various activities. The club began its year with a successful car wash. They also kept up its tutoring program by teaching other students on a one-to-one basis. This year's N.H.S. continued the serious work they have been known for in the past, while also being a "fun group" and best of all, it was the students who chose to have it this way.

AMERICAN FIELD SERVICE is a widespread organization which works in two important ways in our school. The club welcomes two foreign students each year and raises money to send one or two Longmeadow students abroad for a year or the summer. Our two foreign students this year are Eric Rempt from the Netherlands and Nur Tunger from Turkey. The A.F.S. weekends bring together foreign students from all over the Massachusetts and Connecticut area to be entertained by the club. A lot of communication, friendship and fun are rolled into one. The A.F.S. fair, smorgasbord, calendar sales, and Christmas card sales are all fund-raising projects which serve the community as well as providing the scholarship for our abroad students. Thanks to the A.F.S. program, Wendy Weisend is living in Finland this year and Ellen Foley spent the summer of '74 in Germany. The candidates for the summer of '75 are Sue Chase and Kim Antal. The club provides a great way to keep in touch with the world and its many different people by communicating on an individuul and personal basis.

Library Aids

Nobody notices how important the Library Aides really are. Led by Miss Baird, these students organize the library and fix up the magazine room. Along with the above chore, they must make sure no one escapes with unsigned books. Their contribution has really helped to make the new library well-organized and a pleasure to go into.

Office Aids

This year the program of the office practice class was changed by the addition of Lester Hill Corp., (an office simulation project). The girls in the class were each assigned to a position of their choice and were then well on their way to achieving a very successful business operation. To help them reach this goal, the girls worked in the office one study block a week where they learned more about filing, answering the phone, sorting the mail, and other office techniques. This program proved to be exceptionally worthwhile this year.

Future Teachers

This organization is basically involved in preparing students for a career in teaching. The students go and observe teachers at other elementary schools and after a few of these sessions, they are then able to take over the classroom situation. They make up their own plans and act as the permanent teacher a few times a week. This type of role-playing enables the student to get a better idea of what it is exactly like to teach children of all ages. The Future Teachers Club of Longmeadow High is definitely an asset to all of the students it serves.

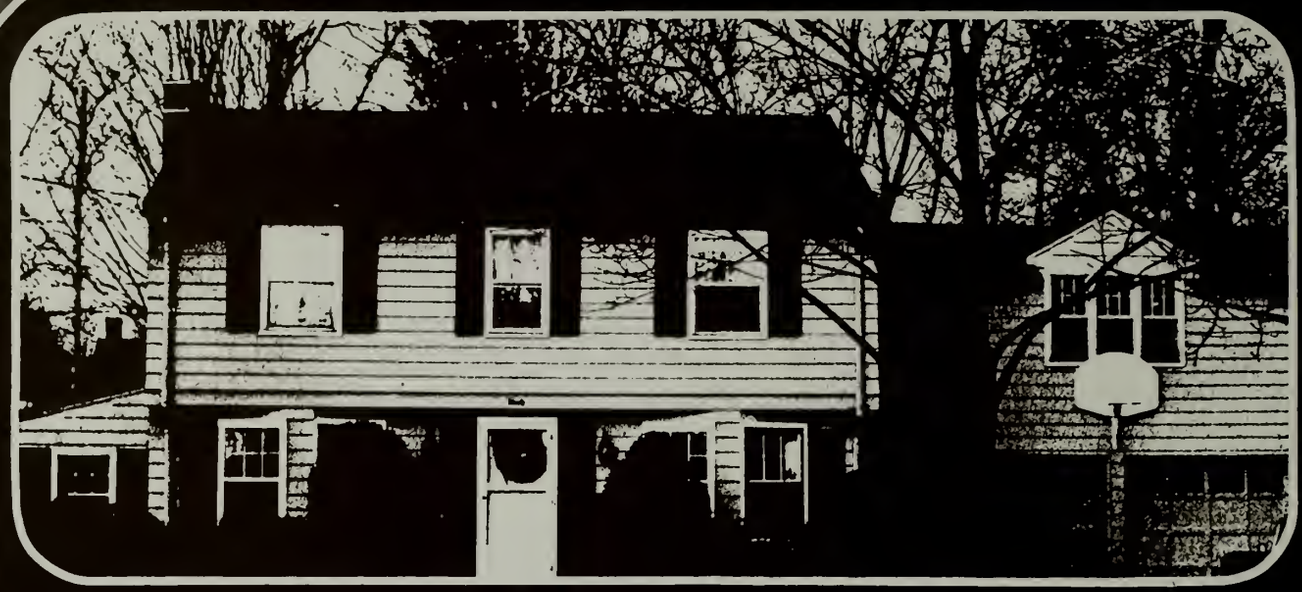
The newest addition to Longmeadow High School is the new Television Complex. Many classes and clubs use this facility to make it worthwhile, and some of the student teachers used this equipment for their observers. They would have a few of their classes filmed, and then would send the finished product off to their college for viewing by their professors. Another use for the complex is the experience it offers to its aides. The studio is terrific for Longmeadow High.

A Better Chance



"A Better Chance," better known as A.B.C., was a new arrival at L.H.S. An arrival that brought the citizens of Longmeadow to a new height of awareness. While implementation of such a program was a new undertaking, the idea had been proposed and countered for the past five years. For those opposed as well as proponents of A.B.C., such a suggestion began a period which resulted in the designation of one house on Wenonah Road as the A.B.C. house. This house, the home of Mr. And Mrs. Peter Thomas, became the home of the four girls and the meeting place for all eight A.B.C. students.

While Longmeadow was split in its reactions to the program, Longmeadow High School students saw this as a way to look at themselves. For the eight A.B.C. students, L.H.S. started as a new and sometimes awkward place for them. Eventually, as all in the high school had seen, each developed their own interests and personalities, becoming a valuable asset to the high school experience. Included in those interests were the basketball team, the instrumental program, and overall interest in the "goings-on" in the school.

The program's name again is "A Better Chance," and it is. But for whom? Has not Longmeadow High School really benefited from such a program?

Scuba-Diving Club

The Scuba-Diving Club's journeys take them eleven feet underwater where they are able to learn the complexities of underwater diving. The school is fortunate to have the pool to practice in.

Outing Club

Outing Club is probably the most active and well attended "after the school day" activity at Longmeadow High School. Every year kids seem to enjoy the trips a great deal. Segments of the Appalacian Long Trail in Vermont have been hiked, on week-end backpacking trips. A climb up Mt. Stratton and a bicycle ride to Granville State Park are two other outings planned by the Outing Club. In this day and age, poeple are becoming aware of the abuse nature has received from our growing, producing world. It's time to give nature the recognition she deserves for providing us with a beautiful world. There are still spots in the world left completely to nature, and the Outing Club seeks to enjoy them. If you want to get out-doors on the week-end, and out of Longmeadow, look for the Outing Club.

Chess Club

Longmeadow High School's Chess Club provides a chance to rescue oneself from the hassles of everyday living. Each member, regardless of his skill, finds time to brush up his or her game under the guidance of Mr. Donald Ladd.

Despite a disappointing school-wide circulation of about 600, the JET JOTTER continued to expand. One major alteration was to shift to a magazine-type format rather than the traditional newspaper style. This difference allowed the JET JOTTER to deal with many journalistic endeavors such as creative writing and interviews; much more than merely news! Every student in the high school was able to notice the difference in the writing.

Another change which people were unaware of was the switch to a new printer. This was done mainly because the new printer allowed more pages to be printed than before, but at the same prices. This, in turn, improved the quality of the paper for there was now much more room to work with.

This "searching out for new ideas" and the new printer can be attributed to only one thing: the staff. Guided by Mr. Delano and Mr. Gelinas, and led by editor Charlie Epstein, the hard-working staff continually produced.

The JET JOTTER seems to be headed for even more growth and refinement and next year should see even more new ideas.

On behalf of all the students and faculty of L.H.S. the MASACKSIC staff would like to thank Mrs. Tena Beck for her many years of help and service at Longmeadow High School. As head secretary, Mrs. Beck was always ready to assist any faculty member, student or activity when a problem arose. With her leaving, we surely have lost a good friend.

The Chopping Block: Chopping

Seminar Day again provided students with the chance to experience the unusual. Candlemaking, transcendental meditation and the new scene on drugs were offered while various distinguished speakers spent the day at Longmeadow High.

Such a day, originally conceived as an exercise in elective education, provided a well appreciated break from the routine classroom experience. Not only the students participated, but Seminar Day became a community activity with many parents enjoying the offerings. While the organizers of Seminar Day were enthusiastic about the outcome, most students used the day as a vacation and did not really get the best of a terrific day.

The New Addition: A Follow Up

Two years ago Longmeadow High School was fortunate in having a new addition open as well as certain revisions in the old structure. Included in the revision was the new History wing, chemistry rooms, T.V. studio, and new art rooms. The biggest addition was the beautiful new library. Up to now a major concern of the faculty and administration, has been the effective use of such new facilities. Over the past year, teachers, students, and visitors to Longmeadow High School have taken advantage of the up-to-date facilities and have benefited greatly. Included in these activities were the numerous tapings and broadcasts of the winter concert and class plays by the T.V. studio, as well as implementation of new devices in the History department. As well as the good generated by the addition has come the bad. As always lockers and desks are used to their fullest, with lockers becoming letters to friends and desks becoming notebooks.

The Parking Lot to fourteen hundred students is a lounge, smoking room, refreshment stand, and last but not least a place to park your car. With the institution of the new parking lot rule concerning loitering, it was not uncommon to see our "faculty faithful" braving freezing temperatures and frozen heaters in the line of duty. Such a rule prohibits students from visiting their cars unless leaving school grounds. While it is generally accepted that there is a problem with loitering at L.H.S., this rule provides no alternative to the void left by the Open Door Program. The outdoors is the natural place for students to go when on Open Door.

To an outsider visiting L.H.S., the first impression of the cafeteria would be that it is a mess. Well, they are probably right. Housing four study halls a day as well as three lunch periods takes its toll on the cafeteria. But who can be blamed? The kitchen staff? Custodial staff? Administration? No! It is the students themselves who leave the cafeteria in the same condition that they despise.

CO-STARS

A high school yearbook is a culmination of efforts. It is like a wheel, for if any spoke breaks down, it comes to a screeching halt. While the editors of the 1975 MASACKSIC are responsible for the two-hundred plus pages, it is the cooperation of the entire school which ultimately fills these pages. As editors, we have made a conscious effort to represent Longmeadow High School in its entirety. Such an attempt includes clubs, activities, the student body, and a general outlook on the year as a whole. If any clubs do not appear in a section of the 1975 MASACKSIC, IT IS BY THEIR CHOICE. Either a club decided not to be represented, or chose not to take the time to be photographed.

At this time we would like to thank those who have been instrumental in the conception, designing, and productin of the 1975 MASACKSIC. Special thanks to Mel Grant, faculty advisor, Brooks Johnson and Warren Amerman, professional photographers, the "pit", Alicia Knightly, and Don Lendry and Gene Schmidt of Jostens American Yearbook Company.

Hope you are enjoying the show!

The Longmeadow High School Lacrosse Team experienced one of its best seasons ever. While Longmeadow has capped three state titles, an even greater feat is the fact that it has appeared in the state final each year. One cannot easily forget the 1974 season: An undefeated record, the state title, two

The season was one full of interest game after game, week after week. The early part of the season was dominated by sweeping wins over such weaker opponents as Amgerst Regional, Hotchkiss and Suffield Academy. While the team revelled in its victories, rookie head coach Dave Stockwell preached a warning against overconfidence. The season moved on with only a close call at Hall High School. The Lancers breezed through teams such as Westfield and Monument Mountain with relative ease; the entire team got into the scoring act, but all the while, Lancers kept in the back of their minds the "biggies," Kingswood and Wilton. Then came what we may call "the day of awakening." The Lancers were forced to make a long come-from-behind victory against an aggressive Deerfield team. The Lancers two year winning streak now loomed heavily in the minds of the players.

R. Robbins, A. Abbott, Coach D. Stockwell, B. Rooke. Row 3: S. Yanne, P. Mackler, V. O'Reilly, T. Snyder, S. Johnson, J. Walsh, E. McNally, J. Seaman, J. Basile, S. Abdow, P. Southworth, J. Reardon, M. Lawrence.

All-Americans and the loss of Bill McCollough, head coach. But a closer look at the 1975 season reveals some crazy statistics. More team goals were scored than by any team in the past and more assists recorded. The individual scoring record fell to All-Star Kevin Campbell.

Kingswood came and went: a 7-6 decision and Longmeadow was on its way. All eyes were then on Wilton, Connecticut State Champs. After a 2½ hour bus ride, the lax team played inconsistent lacrosse and was forced to come back only to lose 10-9, with the winning streak ended. In one short week the team readied for the states and a shot at a never done before two titles in a row. The Eastern Mass Champ, Framingham North, appeared to be little competition; and the Lancers rolled to the victory. The title sent two-time All-American Charlie Jones, Jack Walsh and Kevin Campbell to the East-West game.

The girls showed strong ability in both offense and defense this year. The offense was led by Julie Whitney, Amy Lyons, Andi Foggle, Debbie Solomon, and Tami Ezzo. Backing up the defense were Sue Murray, Liz Roy and Martha Quimby. The team was held together by co-captains Martha Quimby and Liz Roy. Coaches Mrs. Jean Ezzo and Mrs. Suzanne Knoener led the team well, and are looking forward to a successful third year with all team members returning.

"We had a better team than last year but ended up with the same record."

The 1975 Baseball Season was one of close games and near-wins. The team lost five one-run games and just missed the playoffs by one game. The losses to league leaders South Hadley and Agawam were tight (2-1 and 6-5), with Agawam ending their season in first place.

Junior Steve Hurwitz carried the team in batting, along with Seniors Wes Atwood and Bob Petroff. Frank Maddux showed some good pitching with an excellent ERA, as well as Jeff Folkins.

It is agreed that the team simply didn't play up to its potential, but, as Joe Cambi would say, "What the hell . . ."

BASEBALL

SOFTBALL

If someone were to ask any girl on the Softball Team about THEIR GAME against Agawam, the reply might be????That game against Agawam was the story of the Girl's Softball Team. The score was 6-7 (in extra innings) in favor of Agawam. They were so close . . . yet so far . . . After that game, the team, with the help of Coach Nancy Darsch, had to rebuild. There were very many talented players throughout the team. All they had to do was put it together!

Senior Captains Debbie Ditmar and Kathy Horner were a great asset to the team. Senior Judy Cramer and Sophomore Mary Jo Quigley were tied for the highest batting average of the Varsity Team (.410). The J.V. team with a 2-2 record had many players with good hopes for next year. The leading two hitters were freshmen Laura Donner (.538) and Carol Ann Campbell (.470).

Although there was a J.V. and Varsity squad, the team was really considered one team. Regardless of their record, the Softball Team had good times on and off the field.

FIELD

This year the Girls' Track and Field was the largest ever, with close to sixty members. Mrs. Segur deserves a great deal of credit for successfully coaching a team of that size all alone, and fortunately she'll be gaining an assistant next year. The only two losses were out of the league, and with the team losing only eight seniors, the future remains "bright".

The Class of 1975 left an extremely generous gift to Longmeadow High School, which was announced at the awards assembly. It was a living trust fund of 1,000 dollars. There are eight departments in the school. The interest will be taken out of the bank every three years, until the year 2000, and will be given to a different department. The departments will be drawn out of a hat, to determine who receives the money each year. In the year 2000, the 1,000 dollars will be withdrawn from the bank and given to the administration to be used as they desire. Over a period of twenty five years, this trust fund will have a value of 3,500 dollars.

Also at the awards assembly, the Class of 1976, presented the Steven Broadbent Award, in memory of a former classmate. The class held a dance where they raised over $350.00 in Steve's name.

"Our revels now are over."

This year's Senior Week began a "Smashing" with the Senior Banquet. The class of 1975 held their dinner at the Sherator West, and was honored to have present Dr. Frost and several other administrators. After an enjoyable dinner, presentations were made to the two AFS students, Eric Rempt and Nur Tuncer, and the yearbook was dedicated to Mr. William Kirkpatrick and Miss Lolene Blake who received a standing ovation. This pleasant evening stimulated the enthusiasm and the anticipation for the next night, the Senior Prom.

Again the Prom was a success as it helped to unite the senior class, thus driving them closer together for the graduation ceremonies. The atmosphere was one of romance from the formal attire to the starlit fountain. For many couples, this night leaves memories of riding the elevator to the sixth floor of Baystate West, dancing the Alley Cat with the Gilman Vangel Band, and honking horns the entire ride out of the parking garage.

Next on the agenda was the LHS Awards Assembly. Several students received awards for their outstanding talents. This year Longmeadow High was honored by the presence of Iris K. Holland who presented an award of merit to William Brennan and Mr. Roger LeBlanc for their outstanding service with Key Club.

Sunday, June 8 the seniors finally realized that their high school careers were drawing to a close. On Graduation Day the sun shone again for the umpteenth year in a row and families and friends were proud to witness the commencement of "the leading players." The Commencement Address, given by Dr. George J. Funaro, the provost of the University of Maryland, was followed by a lot of hugging and kissing by "the kissiest class!" Yet the senior happenings had not ended. The 1975 Senior Week came to a close at 5:00 A.M. on June 9 after the all night party held at the Jewish Community Center. It was then that we had to say good-bye and good luck to the members of the class of 1975. And now each will go their own separate ways as they will play their roles before that "constantly rising curtain."

"O brave new world, that has such people in it!"

"We are such stuff as dreams are made on."

"ONLY THE

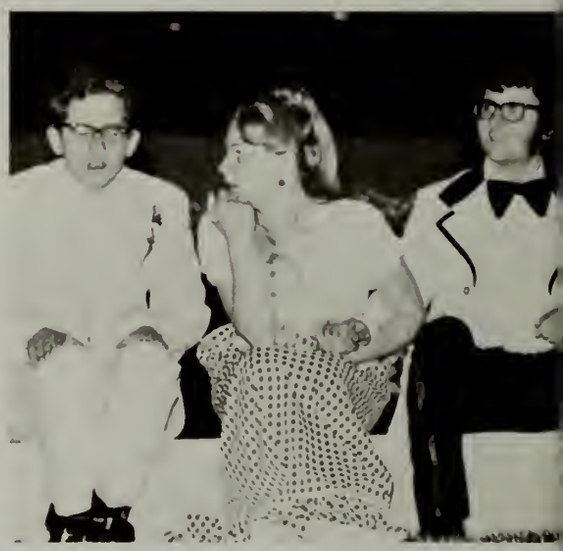
toys."



"Then, come kiss me sweet and twenty, Youth's a stuff will not endure."

BEGINNING . . . "

"How sweet the moonlight sleeps upon this bank."

"Last scene of all that ends this strange, eventful history."

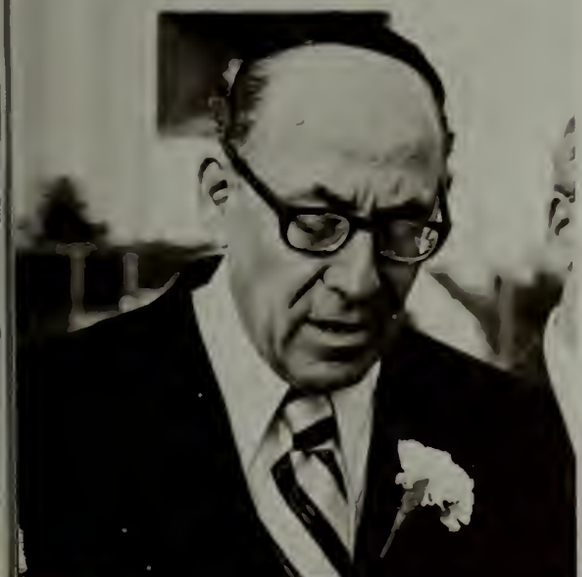
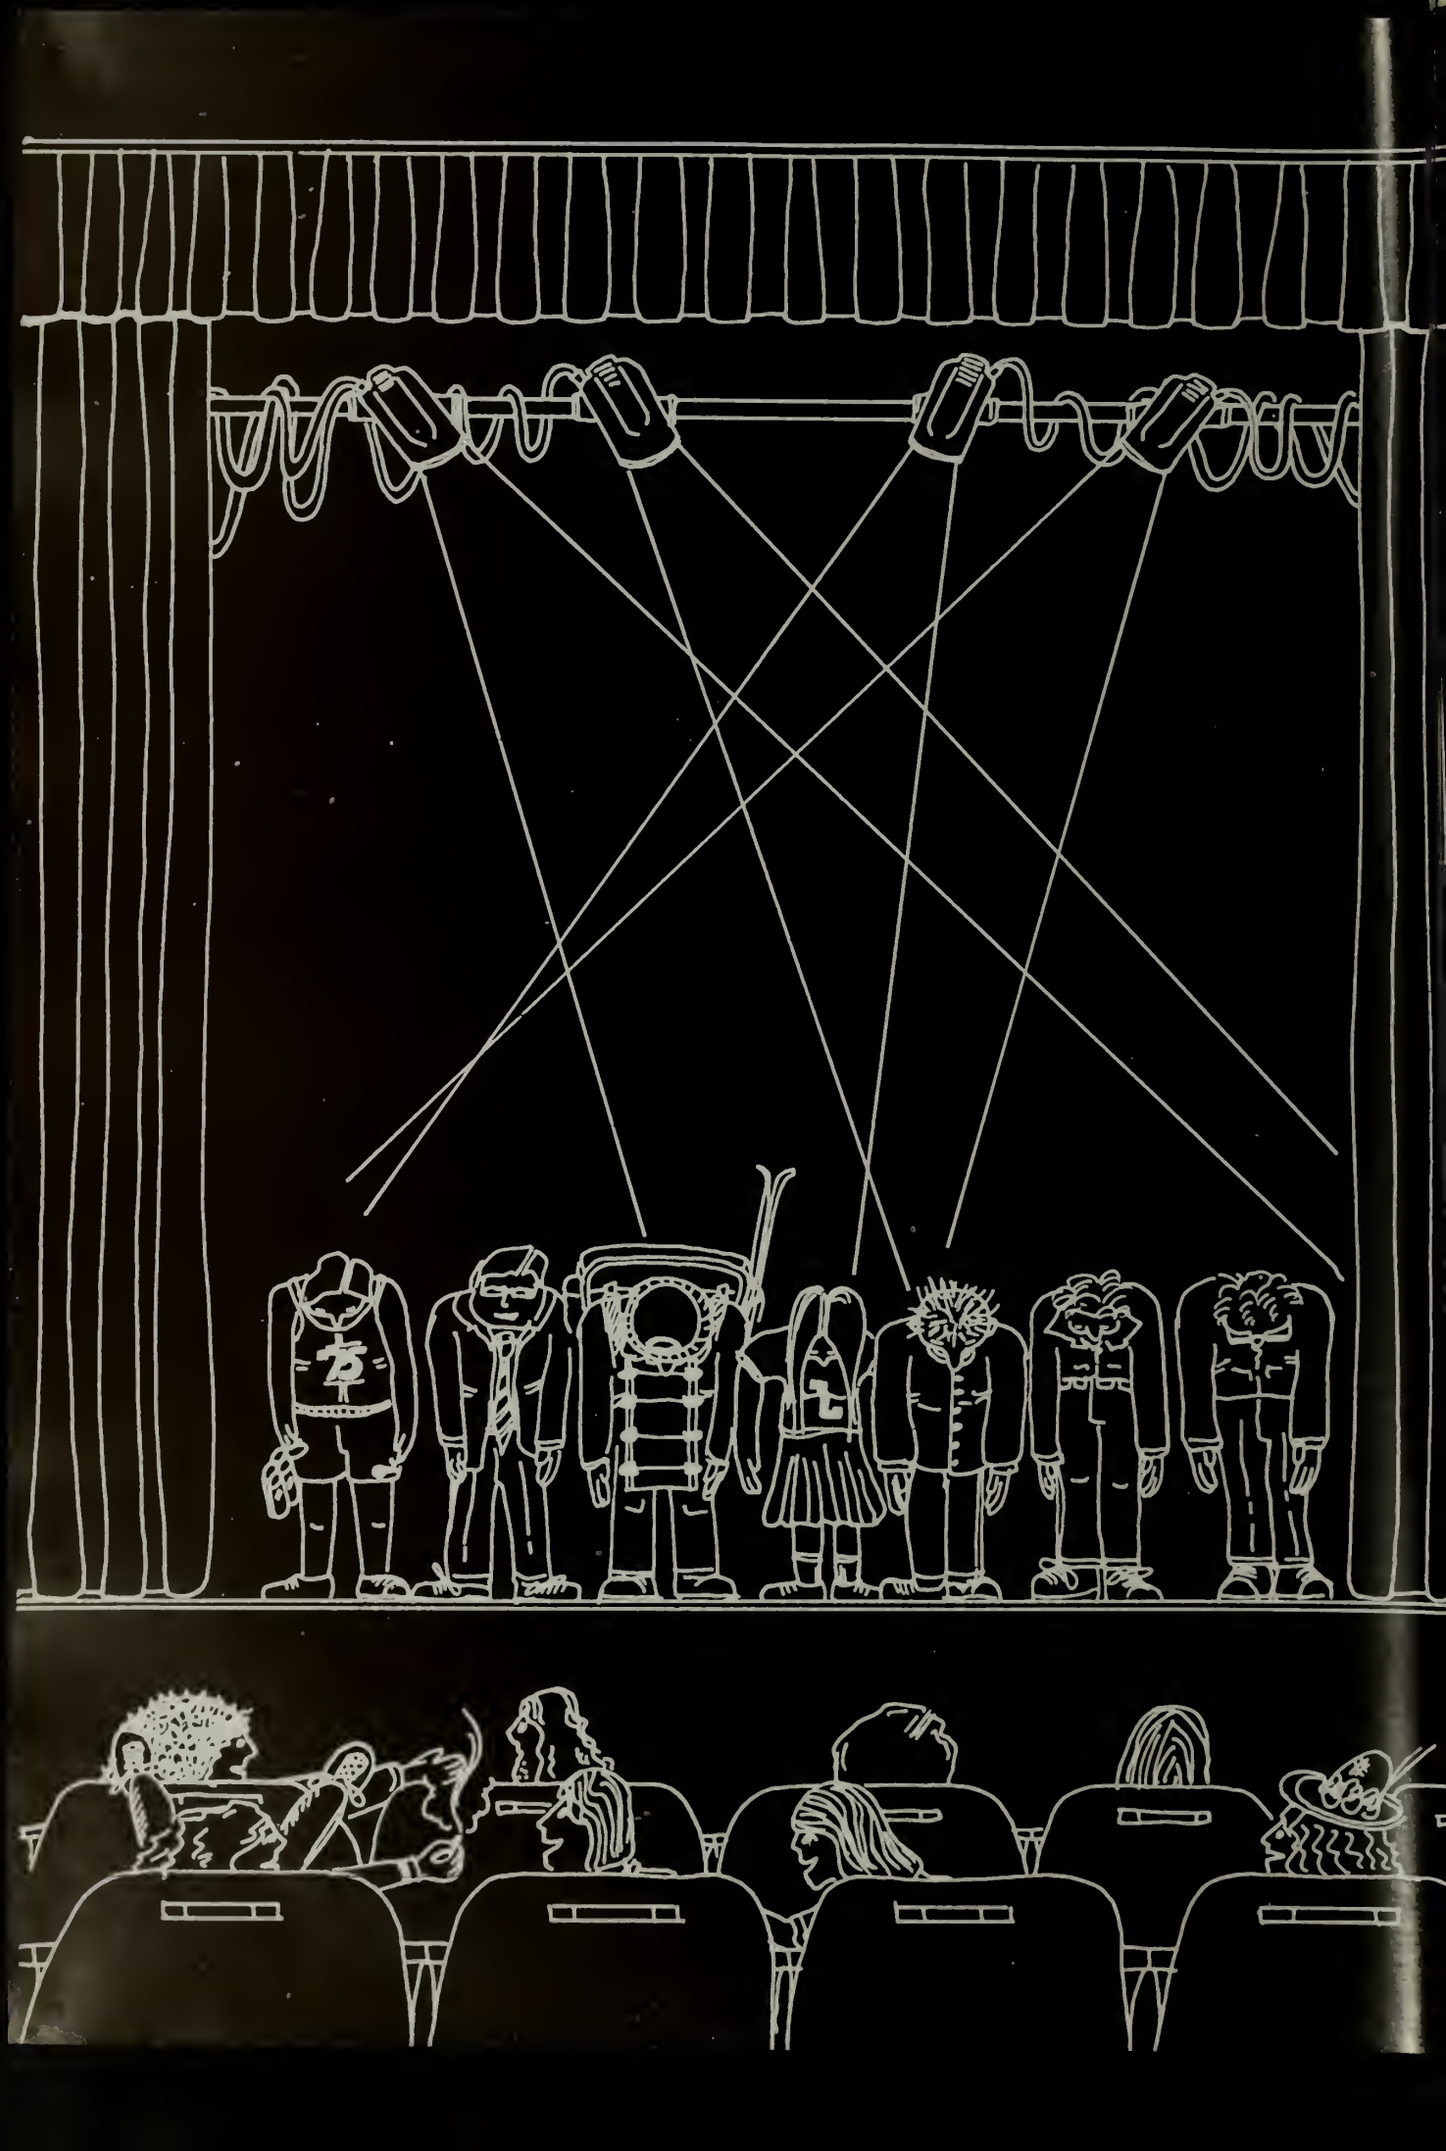
"As the four years flew by we began to mature as a class, until that cloak of insecurity fell completly away, revealing not that fragile freshman class of the past, but this stable senior class."

"And like this insubstantial pageant faded, leave not a rock behind."





"It has been the combined efforts of our parents and teachers which have gotten us safely through high school. So when you receive your diplomacy today, please make note that they have been divided in half . . . one half your parents and one half your teachers!"
